Operator

An operator is a symbol that operates on a value or a variable. For example: + is an operator to perform addition.

Relational Operators

A relational operator checks the relationship between two operands. If the relation is true, it returns 1; if the relation is false, it returns value 0.

Logical Operators

An expression containing logical operator returns either 0 or 1 depending upon whether expression results true or false.